

Lifesize® Cloud

The consumerization of business continues to drive dramatic changes in the tools people use at work. Businesses are adopting social applications like Google Mail™, Calendar™, Hangouts™ and Chrome™ because employees already know them from personal use.

Many companies, though, also have a legacy video conferencing solution or use a free application that delivers an unsatisfactory experience. Furthermore, they pay for an audio conferencing solution and a different web conferencing service. These are disparate solutions with entirely different UIs and workflows that don't mesh together. That's frustrating and inefficient for users and costly for the company.

Lifesize Cloud offers customers a better way to communicate using the Google tools such as Chrome, Calendar or Hangouts that employees prefer. In addition, companies can replace their audio and web conferencing systems with Lifesize Cloud and Lifesize® Phone, providing a consistent, simple and intuitive experience users will love and saving the company money.

Lifesize recognizes the importance of delivering a high quality video conferencing solution that's designed to work the way teams work. Lifesize Cloud fits within existing GCal/Gmail™ workflows, providing a simple way to make calls through a Chrome browser or to schedule video meetings through Google Calendar. Lifesize Cloud natively supports video calls in the Chrome browser and provides a Chrome extension that lets users easily schedule meetings through Google Calendar.

Hangout Users

Lifesize Cloud is a powerful alternative to Google Hangouts. Hangouts and browser-based calling in Lifesize Cloud both work in Chrome through a link the meeting owner sends attendees. With Lifesize Cloud, the experience is much richer with higher quality, connected rooms and point-to-point calling, as well as meetings and large group calls.

Lifesize Cloud is a robust collaboration tool with video that can plug right into your existing workflows with no disruption or learning curve. Take the free 14-day trial and discover for yourself the seven ways Lifesize Cloud enhances Google apps:

- 1. Superior conference room experience — Lifesize® Icon™ is easy to use and simple to deploy and is a perfect fit for every need, from the huddle room to the boardroom and auditorium. Lifesize Icon video systems offer a far better experience than Chromebox™. The Lifesize Icon experience is best-in-class, from the immersive HD video and audio quality to the outstanding user experience of the touch-based Lifesize Phone that offers audio conferencing and video conferencing control from a single interface.
- 2. Direct dial experience including a shared directory — Once a new person is added to Lifesize Cloud, they're instantly added to the directory, which is automatically displayed on any of your devices, including room video systems. Simply scroll by name to see who is available, and click to call.

- 3. Schedule and join meetings using your existing flow — You can easily schedule your video meetings from Google Calendar with our easy-to-use Chrome extension and join video meetings directly in Chrome.
- 4. Improved call experience — Lifesize Cloud provides a continuous-presence multiparty experience for up to 50 participants in a meeting. You can also select a primary presenter to show full screen and a moderator to control the mute-all function for your meetings.
- 5. Add international dial-in to your meetings — Lifesize Cloud provides both video and audio conferencing in one solution with dial-in numbers for 50 countries. Google Voice™ is available only in the United States.
- 6. Connected experience — With Lifesize Cloud, everyone can have a seat at the meeting. Lifesize Cloud works on your laptop (PC or Mac®), tablet and smartphone (Android™ or iOS) and your Google or Internet Explorer® browser.
- 7. Control — You can manage and monitor your account in the web console dashboard with complete reports on users, meetings, resources and metrics on usage and demand.

Any mix of three or four benefits should be enough to convince you that Lifesize Cloud is the ideal collaboration tool for you; all seven should make it an obvious “no-brainer.”
